ANOTHER INCENDIARY FIRE AT POUGHKEEPEPS.—FIFTY MEN THROWN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.—On Saturday morning last, between 4 and 5 o'clock, fire was seen issuing from the extensive cooperage, owned by Messrs. Sleight & Pauding, situated on the Whale Dock, foot of Duane's Avenue, Poughkeepsie. The firemen were promptly on the ground, and used every exertion to stay the progress of the flames, but such headway had they obtained before the alarm was given that their efforts were of no avail, except to confine the flames to the burning building. This was with difficulty done, as quite a number of houses at the time, and the fire was very dangerous, and building in dangerous proximity. The fire was a work of art, and the incendiary nature of the materials burned caused the flames to shoot high in the air, illuminating the sky and making the city as light as day. For nearly two hours the fire raged fiercely at the end of which time, the buildings and their contents were a heap of ruins. The loss on buildings, tools, stock, and machinery is variously estimated at from $10,000 to $12,000. The fire was but a partial insurance upon the property. In the buildings were the tools of the workmen, in fifty charts, which were also destroyed. Many of these charts of tools were worth over $100 each. All the workmen, to the number of fifty, are thrown out of employment. The buildings were but recently erected. The fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary, as the fires were always carefully extinguished previous to shutting up for the night. A light was noticed in the upper stories of the building sometime before the alarm was given, but no notice was taken of it, as it was thought to be one of the workmen. Messrs. Sleight & Pauding intend to commence rebuilding immediately.

He fell heavily, and was immediately taken to the hospital, where he died from his injuries to the head. He was immediately conveyed to the New-York Hospital, where he died in a short time. ARMY AND NAVY INTELLIGENCE.

We have interesting and important Army news from the West by the late mails. The soldiers in every department were busily employed protecting citizens and Government property from hostile Indians. Some officers say, however, that in half the "squabbles" the whites were more to blame than the red skinned.

A deputation of citizens from Sonora, in Mexico, had made an unreasonable application to Capt. Hoyman, of the 7th Infantry, commanding at Fort Buchanan, to redress several alleged grievances under which they were suffering, but the officer of course could not interfere on his own responsibility.

Lt.-Col. P. Morrison, with Companies C. and H., Seventh Infantry, arrived at Fort Buchanan, 144 days out from Salt Lake City, having marched 1,500 miles.

Two Companies of the Seventh were left on the march 200 miles east of the Fort, and the remainder of the regiment attached to the Navajo expedition in New-Mexico. The officers were, beside Col. Morrison, Lieuts. Evans, Silver, Ingraham, and Bascomb, and Capt. Hayman; Col. Morrison was absent from the Fort reconnoitering the country, looking for a suitable locality for a post in case he abandoned Fort Buchanan.

The court-martial of Col. Howe had concluded its business at Camp Floyd; and the next mail will bring the Department the report of its decision. The troops from Northern California had all arrived at Floyd.

The officers were Lieuts. Morris in command; Gor-don, Company E; Sanders, Company H; Surgeon Moore. They left Portion on the 24th of September.

They had arrived in camp on the 23d ult. They had with them about twenty men, women, and children, whom they had saved from the tomahawks of the Northern savages, 150 head of cattle, and a few horses. Lieut. Sanders, with a detachment of troops from a temporary camp on the Portion, had gone to the relief of an emigrant train which had been attacked near that place.

The business of the Sub-Treasury was: Receipts, $162,998 for—Customs, $79,000; Payments, $182,796 60; Balance, $5,619,459 81.
